

"He looked up to heaven, that He might teach us that thence is to be procured speech for the dumb, hearing for the deaf, health for all who are sick. And He sighed, not that it was necessary for Him to ask anything from His Father with groaning, for He, together with the Father, gives all things to them who ask, but that He might give us an example of sighing, when for our own errors and those of our neighbors, we invoke the guardianship of the Divine mercy."

Greetings Church Family!

MUSIC

Today's readings focus on the following themes: being open to God's commandments, healing, and spiritual and material care for the poor. I am reminded of an amazing book I read during my first years of teaching: The Road Less Traveled by M. Scott Peck. The first few sentences are "Once we truly know that life is difficult...then life is no longer difficult. Because once it is accepted, the fact that life is difficult no longer matters." Good food for thought and I highly recommend including this book for your home libraries.

We are happy to have Dr. Cabral with us today leading the music with Evander's help. I will be sharing my Catholic faith at Outlaws Bridge Universalist Church near Seven Springs. And there I plan to continue my conversation about how we "Need a Little Christmas Now!"

HAPPY LABOR DAY! Choir resumes on Sunday, September 12 at 9:20. Blessings!

Michael
